

The landing page will be a simple layout composed of two sections, a list of all the camping trips and a map showing their location.

List of Trips:

The trips will be displayed as 'tiles'. All 'tiles' will be arranged by the trip number. Each 'tile' will initially display the trip number, the name of the campground, and a photograph of that particular trip. Photos will be use as backgrounds of 'tiles' with their information over the photograph.

Hovering over tiles:

When hovering over a 'tile', there will be a transparent area that will slide up and reveal more information about the trip, such as date the trip was taken and longitude and latitude. Hovering off of a 'tile' will bring the 'tile' back to its original state.

Map of Trips:

The map will be a customized version of the Google Map showing pins of all the trips in the list of trips. The functionality of the map such as zooming will be the general behavior of the Google Maps API.
